promoting pacism in latin america (1) promoting pacism in latin america (1) no, our fiscal policies should have been designed to move the elite away from a degradation. this was an aspect of the situation in which the united states had influence, and our policies should have been designed to support this.

promoting pacism in latin america (1) the united states must be careful to avoid policies that could lead to a situation in which the elite are motivated to pursue their own interests at the expense of the people.

promoting pacism in latin america (1) in addition, our policies should also be designed to support the development of democratic institutions and processes in these countries. this will require a commitment to providing funding for democratic programs and supporting the growth of civil society.

promoting pacism in latin america (1) finally, the united states should cooperate with other countries in the region to promote a culture of peace and cooperation. this will require a commitment to working together to address the challenges facing these countries, and to supporting initiatives that promote dialogue and reconciliation.

promoting pacism in latin america (1) there is a great deal of work to be done in this area, but with a strong commitment to these principles, we can make a real difference in the lives of people throughout latin america.
